

The Connected Classrooms Challenge

Preparing for a connected & collaborative world

Physically separating team members brings to their school life the skills they already use in their personal life

Challenge

Connect your learners across classrooms using the built-in iPad apps (or their alternatives) and challenge them to complete their projects in teams. Ensure they define their aims and roles within the team but have them communicate and collaborate like they were in different countries. It also gets teachers working together too. Extra challenge: how about have one class communicate in a different language and have translation become a necessity to project completion?
